

What Do Our Young Participants (and Their Parents) Have to Say?

Elizabeth just loves the class. She's getting really into helping and setting the table for dinner. That alone is priceless! (9 years old)

Matthew is so excited to teach his little brother all the reasons behind the rules. He realizes now that I was right and not just being strict when saying "no belching at the table, elbows off the table, no gross stories at dinner time, etc.). It is nice to have an outside voice. (10 years old)

Xavier did not initially wish to attend, but you and the class really won him over. He sees why courtesy is important and how what he says or does has a direct impact on the treatment he receives from others. Please run the class for older students so that my other two sons may attend. (6 years old)

Chloe is just enjoying the class - period. It's had a profound affect on her. You're great at this. I took her with me on a new client call last week. She has never been shy about saying hello to new people, but the client was so impressed with how she introduced herself and shook hands with assertiveness. (7 years old)

My mother-in-law has noticed the change in Caroline, particularly how much more positive and accommodating she is of others. Thank you for encouraging her to "speak up" and practice her English, as she is much more confident in her ability to do so now. (11 years old)

Lucy is becoming such a lady; she even wore a dress the other day without being asked...a nice change from her jeans and sneakers. Thank you! (8 years old)

 to Mrs. Zablit,
 Samuel thoroughly enjoyed your Minding Manners program at Marymount. But nothing made him prouder than the prize he won at the end. The entire program had a wonderful impact on Sam, and he continues to share all he learned with the whole family.
 Please keep us informed of classes you might have in the future. It would be a pleasure to continue.
 With best wishes and many Thanks, Cory Stangor

Dear Mrs. Zablit,
 This is a little thank you for everything you taught me, especially about my posture and poise. Again, thank you for lending me that tape. Thank you for greeting me every day with your warm smile which brightened every day. After class, I would always be able to smile and walk more elegantly, from being around you and all of your warm kindness. I know you had to deal with a lot in this class, so for that, I apologize. All my thanks and best wishes,
 Sincerely,
Nivan Richmond

Dear Mrs. Zablit:
 your class was great! I had learned a lot of things like how to talk in the phone, to introduced me, but most of all how to be more polite and elegant.
 Thanks for teaching me so well. I had a great time.
 Love,
 Paulina.
